This is good news. We need somebody great.
You probably heard Minwoo and Berta quit today. That's also good.
I'm still up for driving the rest of the software stack. I have some of the best people at Tesla and with some careful moving of people I can strength autopilot and still get my other software driver, bring up, radar and testing done.

Let's talk tomorrow after you talk to Chris and see what the next best step is.

Just talked to Andrej and he accepted joining as Director of Tesla Vision, so anyone working on neural net software would report to him. Probable start date in a week or two.

Andrej is arguably the #2 guy in the world in computer vision after Ilya. The OpenAI guys are gonna want to kill me, but it had to be done...

Thank goodness. Lmk if you want to talk tonight or tomorrow.

Will let Chris Lattner know tonight at 11:30. Not sure if he will stay or go, but I won't be all that sad if the latter.
